

From: Paul Snow
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 1:31am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The proposed settlement is a bad idea for consumers because it does not address any of the basic issues with Microsoft's corporate behavior which led to the lawsuit in the first place. What the settlement does do is to reinforce in the minds of the common citizen and corporate leadership, the idea that corporations (if they are big enough) are above the law, do not have responsibility to society, and any means necessary justifies the ends of making money.

Paul Snow
psnow@nipha.com